

This chapter was translated for <http://nuttyisprocrasinating.wordpress.com> only. And only for those people who don't mind reading unprofessional translation that was being translated FREELY at the translator's, editor's and proofreaders' own free times.

Chapter 99.1

Night Attack (Part 2)

Shang Jun alertly listened to the movement on the roof. Although it was extremely light, he could still hear that there was more than one person on the roof. Fearing that Xiu Zhi would be caught by them if he had suddenly went out, Shang Jun did not think it through carefully before he (SJ) led him to the wall and covered his mouth, because he had been afraid of disturbing those people outside. But now, the skin he touched was getting hotter and hotter, so Shang Jun raised his head only to meet Xiu Zhi's chaotic eyes. He realized there were thin beads of sweat on Xiu Zhi's forehead, his body was stiff, and his breathing was a little unsteady.

Their current posture was indeed somewhat... ambiguous. Shang Jun awkwardly retracted his hand and pointed at the roof. Qin Xiu Zhi was startled at first, but when he raised his head, he heard the soft sounds on the roof tiles. He finally understood why Shang Jun had suddenly 'threw his arms around him and gave him a hug'. Knowing that it was an emergency measure, Qin Xiu Zhi had a deeper understanding of his inability to resist the encounter with Shang Jun.

The two were looking awkwardly at each other, so they turned away from one another. The people on the roof suddenly disappeared, before Shang Jun's thoughts immediately turned to the woman who had just been rescued. She was staying next door!

"Crap!" Shang Jun whispered and rushed out of the room.

When he rushed over to the next room, the door was already wide open. In the room, a burly man was fighting against Ye Yan, and it was difficult to determine the outcome for a while. Ye Yan must have heard the movement and rushed over, so now the people in the room were fighting. The people in black who had been looking in the other rooms also rushed over, so several secret guards were also now fighting with them. In the small courtyard, the two sides were fighting hard.

Shang Jun and Xiu Zhi were standing aside and observing the situation. Fortunately, there were not many people in black during this night attack as there were only about seven or eight people. In addition to the burly man who fought against Ye Yan inside the house, they were considered high-powered, but the others were mediocre. Observing their style and skills, they did not look like people from the Iron Armored Army.

Shang Jun squinted his eyes and saw a man in black holding the woman in his arms and attempting to leave out of the window. Even though Shang Jun had arrived, he did not want to get entangled too much because he was still injured. He took out his soft sword directly and a cold light suddenly appeared, but the man holding the woman was able to quickly dodge back while still keeping the woman in his grip. It could be seen that he had some martial arts, but since he was holding a person in his hand, Shang Jun's soft sword came at him again extremely fast. The man's right arm had sustained a deep cut, as the smell of blood filled the room. Shang Jun grabbed the woman's waist as he snatched her away.

The man hit the injured acupuncture point and was about to fight with Shang Jun again, but when he saw the face of Shang Jun under the moon light, he was taken aback and surprised. Even though the man was wearing a facial mask, Shang Jun could see the surprise in his eyes. So, Shang Jun thought to himself, did he know him?!

Seeing the man injured, the burly man became enraged and with his big sword, drove Ye Yan into a corner. However, he did not take advantage of the victory to pursue him further but went straight towards Shang Jun and swung his sword out with great force. With a sword pointed directly at Shang Jun while he held onto the woman, it became difficult to dodge. He was only able to raise his soft sword to abruptly take on the other sword. A force of strength struck through from both of their swords and Shang Jun took a step back to suppress the surging blood. Shang Jun skillfully turned the soft sword with one hand and forced the burly man to step back, which caused the waist tablet hidden in his sleeve to accidentally fall onto the ground.

The waist tablet made a clanging sound as it hit the ground.

"Iron Armored Army!" The big man's eyes widened as his old and new hatred and anger poured out towards Shang Jun while he raised his sword again wanting to put him (SJ) to death.

The broad sword and the soft sword met once again, drawing black and white sparks. Shang Jun frowned and squeezed the red sword in his hand. This man's moves were old-fashioned, but they were powerful. His chest was now burning like fire and his hand was aching. Shang Jun made a couple of strikes with his sword, and as the big man became full of blood, he marveled at how powerful this weak looking man was who looked like he was about to fall at any time.

The big man roughly gasped and then changed to hold the big sword horizontally as he slashed towards Shang Jun's hand that was holding the sword.

His eyes darkened and Shang Jun was almost unable to lift the sword anymore; his body was overwhelmed by the brute force of this burly man!

Although Shang Jun's eyes were still sharp, his face was as pale as snow, so his injury was bound to get worse again. Qin Xiu Zhi was shocked, but he was powerless and could only anxiously say, "Ye Yan, protect Shang Jun!"